ESP Conference Liverpool

The International ESP Teachers' Association has completed its preparation for the upcoming ESP conference on 27-28 October 2017. The Association has already started 2nd conference preparation which is going to be held in a unique and historic university.

The conference programme has almost completed. We are still waiting for a confirmation from some of our delegates but overall everything is ready to go. . Deadline for submission has ended but you can still come and join us and you will have the honour of listening to scholarly invaluable papers by receiving an attendance certificate.

Resources

While I was browsing I found onestopenglish webpage which offers some activities and lesson plans for ESP teachers. There are some practical resources and ideas if you are teaching students who study banking and finance. There are activities for law, EAP, nursing, marketing and hospitality and tourism. Publications

The journal of Teaching English for specific and Academic Purposes is getting ready for its special edition. This special edition includes presentations which were done in Oxford University in September 2017. You will find many useful and scholarly articles in this special issue.
